

Overview of Our Office

The Storia Law Office is a law office that mainly serves clients that “use intellectual property and IT as their means to compete in the corporate world.”

More specifically, we provide legal support for corporations that use intellectual property rights, such as copyright and patent rights as their means of competition (technological intellectual property and entertainment related intellectual property), manufacturing/medical/health care/university-launched venture businesses, IT companies engaged in systems development and the provision of web services, and corporations engaged in international activities.
